Shopping can be such a fun!

Erzi grocery stores have always been an all-round favourite in nurseries and group play areas. Shops and supermarkets form an essential part of role-playing games as they provide ample space for interaction and communication besides firing the imagination.

By nature, youngsters simply love doing the same things as grown-ups. Unconsciously, they learn to engage with other children and to rely on themselves whilst training their speech abilities, learning to count and to do simple arithmetic.

Sweet as Sugar and highly coveted

Fancy something sweet? Then come and visit our patisserie of wooden art on the peaks of the Erzgebirge mountains in Germany. Just behind the seven summits, at the seven peaks, there is a little crispy house with a big oven. Here, people lovingly tinker, chop, cook and bake. You can taste the love and smell the fragrance of the effort that went into our little darlings. The ingredients, of course, remain top secret.

They can create their own structures and patterns with the colourful balls, which is not only fun, but also strengthens their problem-solving skills and self-confidence. By experimenting with different arrangements and combinations, they can learn through play and realise their individual ideas. The colour coding of the balls in the cotton bags is a nice idea that not only keeps things tidy, but also strengthens children's understanding of colours and allows for further play ideas. Material: beech, coloured lacquered

"The goal is the journey itself". This is a playful method for children to learn by dint of hard work how rewarding the whole game can really be when the goal is finally reached. Running water or rolling marbles proceed on a downward course. No matter whether used in summer or in winter, indoors or out in the sandpit, children will derive fun and pleasure from this product everywhere and at any time of the year. A closer look at the way the Marble Course works suffices to disclose its true potential. A small dam brings the marble to a halt, causing the water to overflow. A hole can make the marble or the water disappear and set it in motion again at another level. A supplied plug (cork) serves to complement this feature.

Now simplified at long last!

To many people, mathematics is a fully abstract term, often quite hard to grasp without means of illustration. The educational game Fractions of a Whole not only conveys a visual impression of fractions, but also allows kiddies to gain hands-on experience!

1 Educational Game
Fractions of a Whole 42042

length: 51,3 cm width: 15,1 cm
height:7,6 cm weight:736 g

Content: 1 large cube - to form a whole, 2 halves,
4 quarters and 8 eights; 1 play mat (40x40cm)
Material: beech, nature; polyester fleece, printed

Constructed from solid beech, this unique system is designed to teach children the various parts making up a whole number. While playing with the three-dimensional pieces i.e. cubes, kiddies learn to distinguish whole shapes and their individual constituents such as halves, quarters, eighths, etc. When advancing to higher primary school grades, they then learn how to express these shapes abstractly in the form of fractions. This direct learning-by-playing method teaches youngsters the number of different possibilities of forming a cube, say from two halves, one half and four eighths, two quarters and one half, etc.

This educational game is highly recommendable for children with special needs.
Size cube: 6x6x6 cm

INFO

The system comprises three principal components:

- Each part (whole, half, etc.) is designed as one self-contained solid unit instead of being made up of two pieces stuck together. This enables the formation to be visualized as a whole.
- All components are of the same colour (i.e. wood left in its natural state) so that they are easily recognizable as forming one single whole.
- Each piece is accorded its own space on the mat. If a cube needs to be formed from four quarters, the child removes each quarter from its mat and places it in the appropriate spot.

INFO

- wide range of possibilities
- high-grade workmanship
- large-sized, easy-to-handle
- to cut out

2 Educational Game
Geometrical Shapes 42043

length: 51,3 cm width: 15,1 cm
height:7,6 cm weight:973 g

Content: 6 geometric shapes (cube, quad, sphere, pyramid, cone and cylinder), 2 play mats (40x40cm)
Material: beech, nature; polyester fleece, printed

This didactic set helps children to understand basic geometrical principles. By seeing, holding and playing children learn the meaning of bodies, surfaces, shapes, symmetry and relations. It's made of solid beechwood.

Solids are 10 or 6 cm high and 6 cm wide/in diameter.

The children learn the basic geometric principles through play. They learn the meaning of shapes, size, bodies and surfaces, symmetry and harmony.

Children attribute relevant properties to geometric bodies by touching them. Didactic value is upgraded with matching geometric faces on the play mats for better understanding of surfaces, edges and corners.

3 Rocky Rocker 46339

length:42 cm width:28,5 cm
 height:17 cm weight:1,8 kg
 Material: plywood, laquered

The Rocky Rocker is a game and sport product which can be used for young and old, as single product or as connecting point between two Erzi balancing boards. It corresponds to all current security standards and guidelines and offers nevertheless a design without any screws or nails. The Rocky Rocker is a natural product with love to the details and varied challenges to the exercise capacities of the children. The product can be used as stool and sitting or standing balancing seesaw. The seesaw demands from the user teamwork, balance, consideration, patience and coordination.

Rocky Rocker is a playing and sports device that can be used as a stool, a seat and a rock in either kneeling or standing position. In the sitting and kneeling position, the user may hold onto the rods. When placing an Erzi balancing board in the middle of Rocky rocker, it becomes a rocker for two children with numerous game variations (such as marble track). The rocker is great for walking (not running) over it. Placing a balancing board with one end on the Rocky Rocker and hooking this in forms a fixed ramp catering for a variety of different applications.

In most cases, however, Rocky Rocker can be used as a connection of two Erzi balancing boards. The interaction of the connected boards requires and encourages coordination and concentration skills. In this variant, both Erzi balancing boards should be suspended by the appropriate rods.
